

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A phone secretarial function extension device for a hand-free set is particularly related to one that is compatible with all available hand-free sets and cellular phones on markets and is equipped with phone secretarial functions (phone album, voice controlled actuation, voice dialing and recording/ playing communication content). It mainly has a wired and wireless remote controller, a receiver and an I/O interface to cooperate with a cellular phone and its associated with hand-free set whereby all kinds of hand-free sets and cellular phones are able to perform extended functions such as a voice controlled dialing operation.